Healthy for Good™

Warm Up to Cool-Weather Workouts

Dress for Comfort

- Keep your feet cozy with warm socks, weatherproof shoes and supportive insoles
- Wear layers of clothing to wick away moisture, insulate and protect
- Don't forget hats, gloves and scarves if it's very cold

Look at the Bright Side

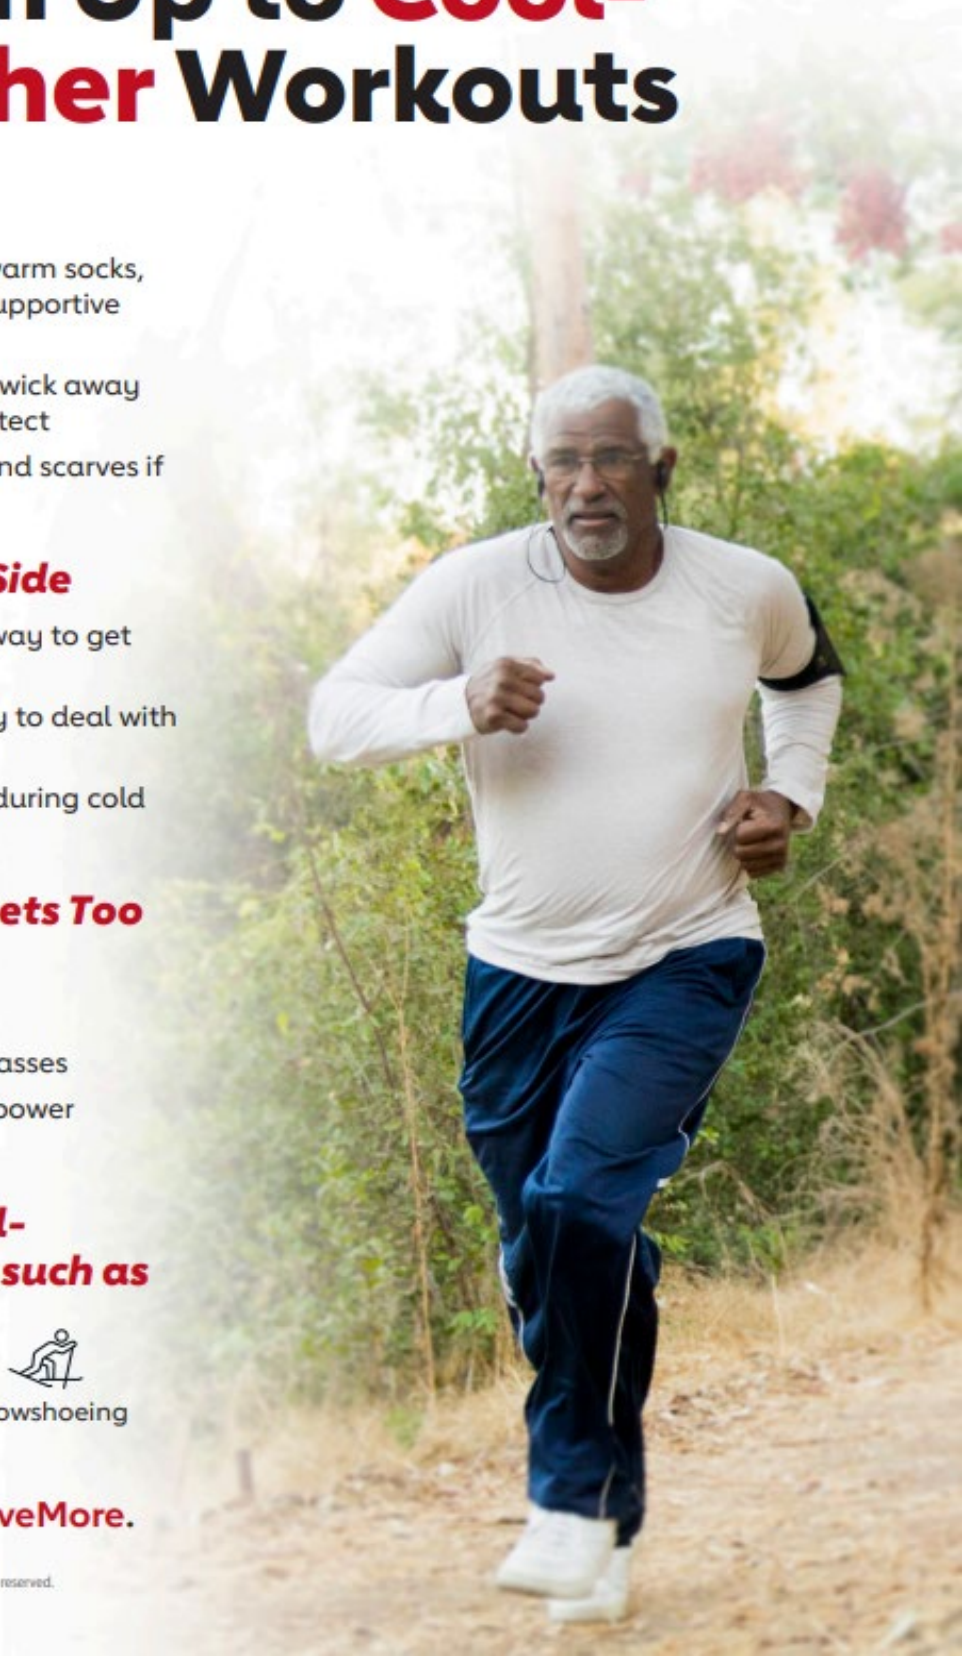

- Being outdoors is a great way to get some Vitamin D
- There's no heat or humidity to deal with – just cool, crisp air
- Exercise boosts immunity during cold and flu season

Take It Inside if It Gets Too Cold for Comfort

- Indoor circuit workouts
- Yoga or other fun group classes
- Active housework such as power vacuuming

Have Fun with Cool-Weather Activities such as

Jogging Hiking Snowshoeing
